

Following the commencement of the national lockdown with school closures from 05 January 2021, allmanhall very much remains open to support our clients and to work with our supply partners to deliver on the needs of those still operational.

As is true of the majority of organisations, we are forced to work remotely and to continue to evolve. We therefore continue to invest in our technology and training to enable seamless collaboration amongst our team, to ensure we deliver for our clients.

We fully understand the challenges of increased costs and budgetary pressures. We will not cease to rigorously analyse, tender and negotiate the food supply chain, to ensure that the essential cost savings we deliver for our clients continue to lead the way. This is balanced with the overriding purpose to meet our clients' requirements on a quality and service perspective.

I would like to thank all our clients for the continued partnerships – each of these relationships is extremely valued and important. I would also like to thank our team, every one of whom continues to be exceptional during these challenging times and are relentlessly focused on delivering what our clients need.

In the meantime, I hope you are, and remain, safe and well. We look forward to supporting you in any way we can, through the next phases and beyond.

With very best wishes,

Oliver Hall
Managing Director
